

JOGOmap

User Documentation

1. System Requirements

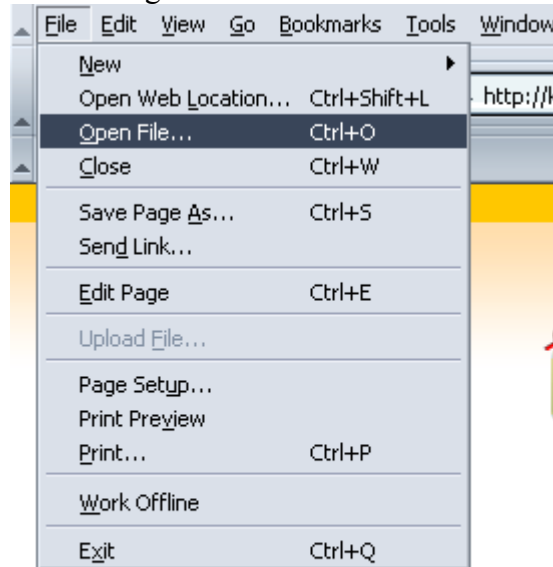

The only thing needed is a working installation of the Mozilla Browser Suit version 1.5 or higher.

2. Installation and how to use

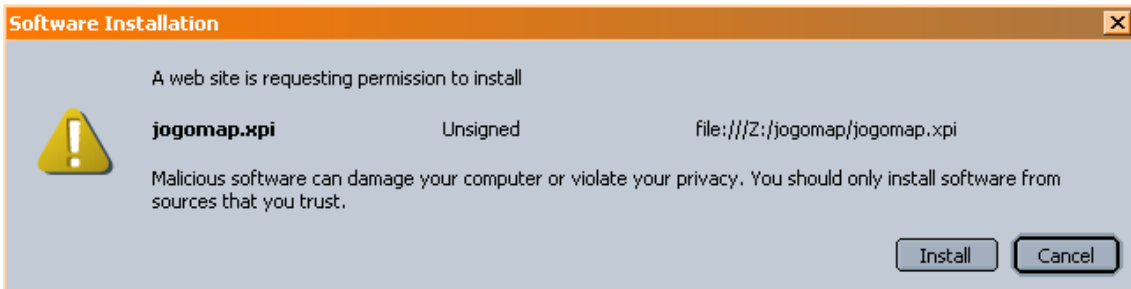

You can either download the .xpi installation file from <http://jogomap.sourceforge.net/download.php> or install it directly from the same page.

If you have downloaded the .xpi file, you need to install manually by following these steps:

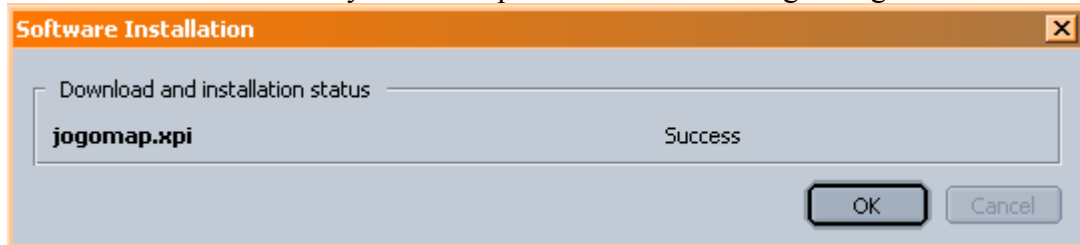

First select the “Open File” Dialog in Your Mozilla Browser.

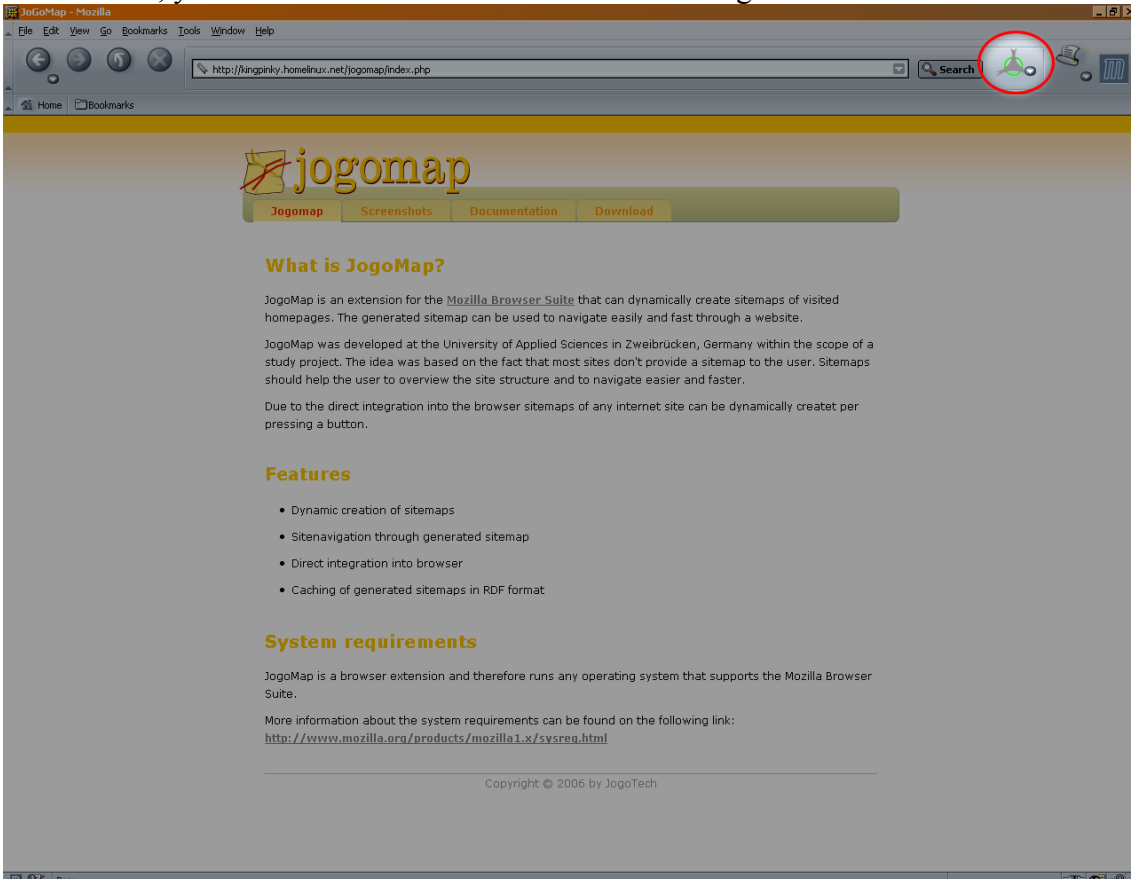

Now select the downloaded jogomap.xpi file. In the following dialog you have to confirm the installation process by clicking on install:

After successful installation you will be presented the following dialog:

Now just press OK and restart your browser to complete the installation. If everything worked fine, you should now have an additional button right to the address bar:

By pressing the button you'll start the site indexing process.
When completed, an additional navigation menu will pop up:

You can stop the indexing process by pressing the button again.

To navigate with the JogoMap, just select the desired page and click the "Load" button.
